Fall 2023

Bull's Run Nature Sanctuary and Arboretum is a non-profit volunteer organization located in NE Butler County and serving the surrounding community. We are dedicated to preserving the natural area of Bull's Run and strive to develop the park as an environmental facility and educational resource for people of all ages.

Signs of the Season

Though the summer heat still lingers, signs of fall are starting to show! A dash of red, orange, or yellow can speckle the woods now as our deciduous tree foliage begins its fall color transformation. And the coolness of the morning under the forest canopy reminds us of the cooling temperatures to come. Our fall program lineup will kick off with our annual Fall Festival on September 24th with fun for the whole family. Campfire Stories with a Naturalist will return in October. Our August campfire explored the full moons of that month, including the Sturgeon Moon, and our October campfire will build on that theme to look at how the creatures of the night use the lunar glow!

Summer Nature TOTS was a fantastic time filled with water, nature play, and a visit from a local beekeeper! Our partners at the MidPoint Library Bookmobile helped support our exploration of nature with fun stories and crafts. We are already excited for our fall session where we will explore the awesomeness of autumn. Our TOTS family is growing but we still have room for more budding TOTS to join us. Remember the TOTS program is available to all of our current 2023 Family Membership holders. Fall Nature TOTS will take place on Sunday afternoons in October from 2:00p to 3:30p on 10/8, 10/15, 10/22, and 10/29. Make sure to email naturalist Melissa at brnsaa@gmail.com to register your child(ren) today!

Note from the Naturalist

Nature is full of beauty in many forms. Nature also weaves an intricate ecological balance in ecosystems, with different species co-habiting with others. But this balance goes awry when certain species get thrown into a new ecosystem, accidentally or intentionally, where they are not balanced, thus causing harm as an invasive.

Adult Spotted Lanternfly (Lycorma delicatula)

Spotted lanternfly eggs hatch as nymphs in April and May. The black bodied nymphs go through 4 growth phases called instars before becoming a winged adult. The first 3 instars have white spotted black bodies, while the 4th instar develops black and red mottling under the white spots.

According to the Ohio Dept. of Agriculture SLF is now designated a destructive plant pest under Ohio law, and movement of certain items from known infested counties in Ohio and other states into non-infested Ohio counties is restricted. When people move infested materials like those containing egg masses then SFL can spread far distances. Current quarantined Ohio counties include Cuyahoga, Franklin, Jefferson, Lorain, Lucas, Mahoning, Muskingum, and our neighboring Hamilton county. So people are encouraged to keep an eye out for signs of SLF.

If you suspect a spotted lanternfly infestation, at any life stage, please take a picture or collect a sample and report the finding to the ODA Plant Pest Control using the Ohio Plant Pest Reporter found at <https://agri.ohio.gov/>.

And sometimes these invaders are deceptively beautiful. Take for instance the deep blushed pink and velvet black spots of the aptly named spotted lanternfly. While some find these creatures quite pretty, as one might find a butterfly, this Asian native causes ugly destruction for fruit producing crops, and other woody trees.

Black sooty mold around the base of plants or oozing sap may indicate the presence of the spotted lanternfly. Beginning in October through the beginning of winter, SLF lay their eggs. The egg masses are small and grey, protected by a waxy covering.

Park Work Days Return This Fall

The 11 acres of forest and prairie at Bull's Run Nature Sanctuary and Arboretum maintain beauty and ecological integrity thanks to dedicated members and volunteers. Our Park Work Days are hands-in-the-dirt, feet-on-the-trails volunteer days where we welcome the public to join us on select Saturday mornings from 9:30a to 1p for land stewardship of Bull's Run. Volunteers plant native seeds and plugs, remove invasive species like honeysuckle and garlic mustard, maintain our butterfly, native wildflower, and rain gardens, mulch trails and clear debris, and other similar tasks which protect and improve the biological health of the area. Plus, it's fun! You meet like-minded people who also enjoy working and recreating in the outdoors, right in our community.

We provide gloves and tools, though you are welcome to bring your own. We also encourage you to bring a reusable water bottle. Please email our naturalist at brnsaa@gmail.com if you would like to join us on any of the following dates:

9/9, 9/23, 10/7, 10/21, 11/4
